

Bristol Diving School

The specific industrial architecture of Bristol Diving School stimulates an interaction with its structure, rather than its use as a neutral space in which to hang work.

We want to form a sustainable collective based on the building, that adheres to our ideas concerning successful collaboration and unification.

We want to develop new formats for art events that use the workings of the group dynamic in their formulation and execution.

With each member supporting the other members, the depth of consideration will be enriched and multiple viewpoints will be given the chance to become solidified.

Bristol Diving School June 2009

